

Who's Who in Nebraska FBLA

Overview

This award honors high school FBLA members who have made outstanding contributions to the association at the local, state, and national levels.

Eligibility

Each active local chapter may enter one participant. State and national officers are automatically eligible for this recognition. Having a national or state officer does not prohibit a chapter from selecting an additional member for this honor.

Guidelines:

1. An applicant for this event is also eligible to apply for the All-State Quality Member Award.
2. Each local chapter shall determine its method for selecting its nominee for the State Who's Who Event.
3. To be considered for national recognition, the nominee must have completed at least one level of the Business Achievement Awards.
4. For this event, a resume (not to exceed 1 page in length in 10-point font or larger) should include evidence of the nominee's participation and contributions to FBLA.

Items to include on resume:

- Years of participation in FBLA activities.
- Extent of participation in FBLA conferences sponsored by the state chapter and national association.
- Offices held on the local, state, and national levels
 - Include goals accomplished as a local, state, and national officer.
- Chairmanships and committee participation.
- Contributions to local, state, and national projects.
 - This includes Ribbon Projects, other community/school service projects, and national partnership projects
- FBLA honors and awards—local, state, and/or national.

Save the resume as Whoswho_chapter_finitialLastName_year.pdf

Judging

A judging team will select up to the top one (1) percent of the Nebraska FBLA membership to receive recognition.

National Entry

Nebraska's candidate for Who's Who at the National Leadership Conference will be the highest point recipient as determined by the judging team. The nominee must have completed at least one level of the Business Achievement Awards to be eligible for national competition. National officers are automatically recognized at the National Leadership Conference providing they have completed three levels of the Business Achievement Awards.
